

KING, LLOYD A.
April 24, 1884-June 23, 1942

Lloyd King was born April 24, 1884 in Iowa and passed away June 23, 1942 at Fairacres hospital in Scottsbluff. He was the twin brother of J.B. King, and the father of three children, Royal and Ferris of Sunrise, and Mrs. P.B. Adams of Wheatland.

He moved to Wheatland in 1932 from Fort Madison, Iowa and for some time operated a popcorn stand. In 1936, he became manager of the Globe Hotel and until recently kept up with his duties in that capacity.

A year or so ago, Mr. King suffered an injury to one of his feet and took treatment for it and appeared to be recovering, but due to his diabetic condition, the trouble repeated itself and further treatment was necessary with temporary relief as before. An operation of the limb appeared necessary but from this he failed to recover and his death had been anticipated at any time during the past few weeks.

Lloyd King was a jovial soul and to know him was to like him. He had a cheery word for everyone and seldom did he ever mention his affliction. A father, a brother and a friend, he will be missed.

Funeral services will be held Friday at three p.m. in the Watson-Dennis chapel. Rev. Waddell of the Christian church officiating. Interment will be made in the Wheatland cemetery.
